

Letter of Recommendation

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Alexandre BERNARD, whom I had the pleasure of teaching during his second year of engineering studies at Arts et Métiers. I was his instructor for the courses in Optimization and Numerical Analysis, as well as his supervisor for a second-year engineering project.

Throughout the academic year, Alexandre BERNARD consistently demonstrated a high level of engagement and performance. During tutorials and practical sessions, he was particularly attentive, proactive, and quick to grasp complex concepts. His contributions were always thoughtful and technically sound, reflecting both his strong analytical skills and his genuine interest in the subject matter.

In the context of the second-year project, Alexandre BERNARD stood out for his autonomy and initiative. He approached the project with remarkable independence, taking ownership of tasks and proposing innovative solutions. His ability to work both independently and collaboratively made him a valuable member of the team, and his commitment to excellence was evident in the quality of his work.

Given his academic strengths, technical skills, and proactive mindset, I am confident that Alexandre BERNARD will be a valuable asset in any internship, particularly in the aerospace sector where rigor and innovation are key. I strongly recommend him for any international internship opportunity and am certain he will thrive in a challenging and dynamic environment.

Please feel free to contact me should you require any further information.

Sincerely,
Singapore, 24th August 2025

Amine Ammar
Professeur des universités
ENSAM Angers

